Getting started

Anyone with a valid Smithsonian network account can create an account in this Confluence by logging in with their network username and password.

1. Create a page in your Personal Space

- Navigate to your personal space by clicking on your avatar in the upper right corner of this page and choosing personal space
- Click Create... and select Blank Page to create your first page.
 - o If you don't click the ellipses (...) but only click Create, it will default to a blank page
 - If you click the ellipses you can choose which page type (template) you'd like to use.
 See Types of pages
- New pages are created as children of the page you are currently viewing.
 - If you don't like where your page ended up in the site hierarchy, you can move it later (see below under "Organizing your site's pages").

2. Add sections to your page

- Click Edit to enter the Confluence editor
- Use the page layouts feature in the formatting bar to structure your content using sections and columns.
- You can manually add text, images, etc. to each section or you can use Macros to embed files, Tables of Contents or File lists into your page.
 - Click the Insert icon (+ sign) on the formatting bar to see a list of common content types (images, links, etc)

3. Add content from elsewhere in your site using macros

 When editing your page click the Insert icon (+ sign) on the formatting bar and select "Other Macros" to add macros for navigation, special formatting and other media.

3. Organize your site's pages

Here are some tips for organizing your content.

· Change the page order

The sidebar on the left displays your pages in a hierarchy. If you have Space Administrator permissions you can click "Space Tools" > "Reorder Pages" to move pages around.

Add labels

Labels help keep pages organized and make it easier for you to find the information you need. Click "Labels" at the bottom of a page to add or edit. The "Related pages" section on this page uses labels too!

Make templates

Standardize and speed up the page creation process with templates. You can create and format a template with page layouts, standard headings and instructional text for hints and guidelines. Check out our sample page on "Making a template"

Now that you've given it a test drive, go ahead and
